Stay tuned for the final schedule, but some highlights include tapered hickory bark weaving, wicker restoration, and tips, tools, and tricks for the DIY enthusiast, the serious chair caner, and for the average joe who just wants to fix this one chair.

The SeatWeavers' Guild is a nonprofit educational group organized to promote and perpetuate the age-old craft of chair seat weaving. Members are craftsmen, teachers, and restoration artists with a deep desire to pass on the seat weaving trade. Previous host locations of the annual gathering include the Folk Art Center in Asheville, NC, Robbins Crossing Historical Village in Ohio, Sturbridge Village of Massachusetts, Brown County State Park in Indiana, and Old World Village in Wisconsin.
